

'54 Homecoming Slated for Week of October 18-24

The 1954 edition of Homecoming promises to be one of the finest celebrations in the eight years of UMD. Held the week of October 18-24, its numerous festivities will climax in the Homecoming game that might prove true the theme of the celebration, "Redman Rout". General chairman for the event is Harry Hagenbrock, senior.

The sale of the familiar maroon and gold buttons will touch off the week originated to honor the alumni. Jack Hautoluma is in charge of button sales which can be bought from the booth in Old Main.

The annual Square Dance to be held under the stars on the tennis courts adjoining Torrance Hall will be the first major event of the Homecoming activities. Scheduled for Wednesday night at 7:30, the dance will be moved into the Main gym in case of inclement weather.

New ROTC Officers and Staff Named

ROTC has opened its fifth year at UMD with a host of new detachment officers, a completely new cadet staff, and a quartette of senior advanced students.

The new detachment officers include Major Kenneth Nielson, Captain William New and Master Sergeant Jerry Brokaw.

Heading the new cadet group staff is Cadet Major Harry Hagenbrock, Group Commander. Cadet Captains Roger Nelson and Grant Merritt are the Group Deputy Commander and the Director of Personnel and Operations, respectively. Cadet First Lt. Robert Juneo is the Group Adjutant and is assisted by Kenneth Kulus. Filling out the staff is Cadet Second Lt. Ronald Jacott, Public Information Officer.

Finishing their last quarter of Air Science this fall are seniors Alan Iverson, Emmett Anderson, Leo LaFrance and David Wood.

All of these cadets have fulfilled three years of ROTC training. This period included a month tour of summer camp in which they experienced a complete indoctrination into the life of an Air Force officer.

Upon graduation next spring, the cadets will either enter pilot training or enter aircraft observer school as commissioned officers.

Thursday, October 21, will be turned over to the queen candidates and to clubs. The candidates and their sponsors will be introduced to the student body at the 11:00 convocation in the main auditorium. Balloting will be conducted throughout the day.

Club Float night, a new feature, will take the spotlight on Thursday evening as the different organizations will put the finishing touches or initial efforts into their floats.

The celebration rolls into high gear Friday night with the Variety Show slated for 7:30 in the Main auditorium. Highlights of the show will be the winner of the talent show and the crowning of the 1954 Homecoming Queen. Don Sundquist and Dennis LaRoque are co-chairmen of the event.

The first major project of the freshman class will go up in flames after the Variety Show. Held on the parking lot at Chester Bowl, the bonfire will spark the pep for Saturday night's game.

Parade chairman John Mitchell has set 1:30 as the starting time for the Homecoming Parade which will begin at Tenth Avenue East and London Road and wind up at Fifth Avenue West. Float events will be judged before the parade.

Public Schools Stadium will be the scene of the Homecoming contest between St. Mary's of Winona and the Bulldogs. Half-time ceremonies will feature a recrowning of the Queen. The traditional dance, Redman Rout.

Spalding Ballroom Scene For Kickoff Dance Tonight

Amid a setting of autumn leaves, the class of 1957 will present "the Kickoff Dance" at 9 tonight in the Spalding Hotel ballroom. Music for the annual affair will be provided by Bob Dugar and his orchestra with dancing lasting from 9 to 1.

Dennis Ojakangas, sophomore class president, announced that an added feature at the dance this year will be a mock scoreboard recording the score of the UMD-Macalester football game, which will be played in St. Paul Friday evening. The game score will be reported by quarters.

The dance will be informal, open to all UMD students and their guests, with admission by the UMD activity card.

Assisting Ojakangas in presenting the dance will be committee chairman Peter Thorsteinson, Greta Linder and Joyce Lahti with assistance from the members of the 1957 class.

"This year's dance theme will highlight the autumnal beauty of the area commented Ojakangas.

Bolman and Wood Take Leading Roles in 'Streetcar' Drama

Lee Ward Bolman and David Wood have been selected for the leading roles in the coming University Theatre production of Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire," announced Dr. Harold Hayes, University Theatre Director. Mrs. Bolman, an adult special student, and Wood, a senior speech major, are cast as Blanche DuBois and Stanley Kowalski in the roles so well known by the recent Broadway and Hollywood production.

The rest of the cast includes Marilyn Moog as Stella Kowalski; Don Sundquist as Mitch; Doris Wessels, Eunice Hubbell; Dennis LaRoque, Steve Hubbell; Doug Rapp, Pablo Gonzales, Alyce Claire Wellberg, as the Mexican woman; Shirley Pedraza, the Nurse; and William Coombs, the Doctor.

"Streetcar Named Desire," the first offering of the 1954-'55 season is tentatively scheduled for a four-day run beginning Nov. 3, according to Hayes. "I plan to include in the play," he added, "all the cuts made in the movie version, and even some additional ones. The motion picture version, to my knowledge, was not criticized by any organized group in

Editorial Staff Named to Paper

A senior from Duluth, Harry Hagenbrock, has been appointed by Provost Raymond W. Darland upon recommendation of the University relations committee to head the STATESMAN staff this year. Appointed to the position of Business Manager was Howard Saaski, also from Duluth.

Active in numerous campus affairs, Hagenbrock holds the positions of Commissioner of Athletics on the Student Commission, 1954 Homecoming Chairman, and ROTC Group Commander. He is also active in Beta Phi Kappa fraternity, the Arnold Air Society and the Varsity tennis squad. Last year he edited the "Sabre," a ROTC publication, and also served as ROTC correspondent for the "Statesman." Hagenbrock is majoring in Business and Economics.

Saaski is a senior whose major is also Business and Economics. Treasurer of this year's Homecoming celebration, he also served on the Prom Committee for last year, and is active in intramural sports, and Beta Phi Kappa fraternity.

On Spins and Needles

By Ron Lief

SPINS AND NEEDLES

ELLA. Decca
 A new album released this fall features Ella Fitzgerald in a collection of songs styled in a mellow mood. Her accompaniment, provided by Ellis Larkins at the piano, is a refreshing change from the usual Wagnerian orchestrations that typify too many current vocals. It is quietly appropriate, never "showy".

Her easy, intimate style is well suited to the selections which range from evergreens like STARDUST and IMAGINATION to others less well known like YOU LEAVE ME BREATHLESS and PLEASE BE KIND. The latter is Fitzgerald at her coolest and is worth beaucoup spins.

ON SINGLES . . .

Another platter by Ella F., which is number one on my hit parade, but never got very far commercially, is her extremely torchy BABY. As far as I know, hers is the only recording of this song, and it really knocks me for a loop. One word of warning . . . this is definitely not to be played when you are depressed, it's just too much.

I can't understand why this one hasn't caught on, unless the sober lyrics and smooth melody are too great a contrast to GILLY GILLY SOMETHING OR OTHER or THIS OLE HOUSE to attract the vast discriminating public.

Incidentally, jazz fans may be interested to hear that Norman Granz' JAZZ AT THE PHIL-HARMONIC will be in Minneapolis on October 15. Among those featured will be Oscar Peterson, Flip Phillips, Dizzy Gillespie, Buddy Rich and Ella Fitzgerald.

The Sh-Boom to end all Sh-Booms, let's hope, is Stan Freeberg's latest excursion into the ridiculous on a Capitol label. Not that there is anything wrong with SH-BOOM, but it has been around just a little too long.

This satire lampoons just about everything within reach, including elocutionist extraordinaire: Marlon Brando. It may not be Freeberg's funniest to date, but it certainly is his noisiest. Parodies of this sort are usually good for a few laughs until you've heard them two or three times. Well, with the present upsurge of rhythm novelties using guttural groans instead of lyrics, Freeberg will probably never run out of material.

Just when some bird has me feeling that the case for a little sincerity in pop music is completely lost, along comes Eddie Fisher with COUNTING MY BLESSINGS a newbie by Irving Berlin from the score of the movie WHITE CHRISTMAS. This waxing from RCA Victor is a real treat for tired ears.

MUSIC ON THE CAMPUS

The freshmen who attended orientation at Camp Miller before starting classes, seemed to be partial to the old varsity dittie COLLEGIATE and (for some strange reason) THE IOWA CORN SONG.

'Care,' Kind Duluth Family Aid in Bringing Bavarian Countess to U. S.

By JACK MUTCHLER

Many of you have heard that there is a countess on campus. This is not a rumor, but a confirmed fact. This week I was given the privilege of interviewing Miss Karin Rothkirch, who is the Countess Von Trach of Bavaria, Germany. She is the daughter of the Count and Countess of Silesia, which is near the Polish border in East Germany.

In 1945, Karin along with her parents and two other members of their family were forced to flee to Bavaria because of the Russian occupation. While there, they received CARE packages from the United States. Through correspondence with the senders, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wheeler, Duluthians who reside at Hawthorne Road, it was arranged for Karin to visit the United States and attend UMD. Mrs. H. R. Elliot, also of Duluth, knew Karin's grandparents and was a great help in acquainting the two parties.

Karin, who speaks English beautifully with an OXFORD tang, finds the American midwestern dialect a strange interpretation of the English she learned while studying in England. "Holy Cow" was especially strange to her. She describes the midwestern version of English as an "accent".

Karin, as she is called by her fellow classmates, came to this country only two weeks ago and plans to stay with the Wheelers for at least a year, during which time she will resume studies at UMD. She is a sparkling blue-eyed brunette and has already acquired a multitude of friends. With her active, magnetic personality, she'll soon make many more companions.

She already has a wide variety of experiences packed into her 17 years. Seeing America is one of the most exciting to her.

Karin was amazed at the many strange pleasures in which we Americans take part. Among these are roasting hot dogs, popping corn, and toasting marshmallows. She did mention one thing she was accustomed to in Germany—drinking Coke, which was introduced there by Americans several years ago.

Watching her first football game proved to be another exhilarating experience for Karin. She stated that the game was entirely too rough and exclaimed, "Oh, they even had to carry two of them off the field," meaning two of the boys, of course. She mentioned one other unusual aspect of the game and that was the use of an oval ball instead of a round one. In Germany, the major sport is soccer, in which a round ball is used.

Karin enjoys horseback riding perhaps more than anything else. However, she also likes to swim, ski, and listen to music. Along the music line, she prefers opera, but the modern American music of Glenn Miller, in particular, has made a definite impression on her. Karin also mentioned the fact that the American way of life seemed much more natural and informal than back home.

It is the sincere wish of all of us here at UMD to extend to Karin our best wishes, and to make her year here as pleasant as we can in every way possible.

Campus Yarns by Will Sweeney

This is a hash column, the kind of thing that should write itself. It is usually composed of the comments and suggestions of the student body, on anything from surveys of the feminine prospects of the new freshman class to gung ho for homecoming. One word of warning though—if enough materials fail to show up, I will be forced to decompose it myself. That, I think, speaks for itself, so speak up.

First a welcome to the new freshmen. Welcome? after waiting for hours behind a line fifteen miles long in the bookstore to get a pack of cigarettes? after eating off of your tray in the cafeteria minus a table? after being bruised and crushed on the Science Building bus? Yes, in spite of all that, it's good to see that UMD is up in its enrollment.

Where are the beanies? Things should be decided one way or the other—either there should be a special rule that all frosh should have to wear them, or no rule at all. I would like to see them wear them myself, to establish a little rah rah tradition for the school, and to instill a little school spirit all around.

There is a lot of activity underway already this year. Roles have been cast for the theatre guild's fall production, "Streetcar Named Desire." The golden shovel has been turned and the new Student Center is on its way. There is a new sidewalk on the campus. The offices in Washburn are turning colors like chameleons. The frosh have elected their new officers. The new library building is far on its way. The Bulldogs have two wins under their belts. Homecoming committees are already starting to lose their hair over the coming celebration. Things are looking up.

Miscellaneous: If you are an out of town student and are interested in finding rides or riders to your various home towns on weekends, contact Mrs. Haley in Washburn. She has set up a student rides exchange for your convenience. And another thing, if you feel that your blood is getting too thick, you might be interested in selling blood—who can't use sixteen bucks? Mrs. Haley is also handling this student blood exchange . . . where are all of the broken limbs coming from? either the skiing season has started early this year (and its cold enough to snow) or football is really getting rugged. . . there have already been adverse comments about the noises in the auditorium. Fewer, Better Programs Promised Convo-Viewers; Campus Talent to Highlight Revised Schedule

By JACKIE ROCCHIO

A well-rounded program of convocations is essential to the cultural life of any educational institution. A convocation should provide an entertaining and informative break in the student's daily study schedule.

Yet, out of 1400 students enrolled at UMD during the 1953-54 school year, not more than 50 students were in attendance at most of the convocation programs. It must fairly be said that about 75 per cent of this absence can be traced to lukewarm interest on the part of UMD students towards programs of the informative variety. Many students, of course, find that they do not have or do not care to spend one hour's time in viewing a convocation program.

There remains, however, an absence of at least 25 per cent which can be traced to dissatisfaction. Student opinion, as voiced by Theodore Pollard in his STATESMAN column, consistently demanded better convocations. Mr. Pollard's sincere attempts to secure a higher-quality program for the Duluth branch began to get results in the latter part of the school year and paved the way for a much revised 1954-55 schedule.

Main campus authorities began to realize that UMD students would not tolerate the programs which were being selected for them and sent in "packets". On one occasion, a scheduled vocal group, the "Singing Marines," was hastily reviewed by these Main campus authorities after considerable complaint and the program was cancelled on the UMD campus.

During the Spring quarter, the Committee on Convocations, headed by Tom Johnson, carefully screened and planned this year's improved program. Unrequested "packet" programs were eliminated and fewer programs of a more varied appeal were chosen. There are seven engagements scheduled in comparison to last year's 15 to 20. Classic and outstanding films will play an important part in all future convo programs.

One great importance of a limited schedule is the resulting financial savings, which will be applied towards paid convocations and campus presentations. Because of the unfortunate failure of the Concert Series at UMD, there will be a lack of fine musical presentations.

Service Center Construction Given Green Light

BREAKS GROUND . . . Richard L. Griggs, left, Duluth member of the University of Minnesota board of regents, watches as his long-time business associate, Stephen R. Kirby, major private donor to the $1,388,716 student center project, turns the first spadeful at ground-breaking ceremonies yesterday on the upper UMD campus. UMD provost Dr. Raymond W. Darland applauds on the right.—(Staff photo.)

A highlight in progress on the new Student Service Center occurred last week when contracts totaling $1,388,716 were awarded for its construction. The date of completion for this latest addition to the new campus has been set at Jan. 1, 1956.

Dr. Raymond W. Darland, provost, commenting on the milestone, said "the center will become the heart of our campus." He added that the facilities will encourage the growth of the UMD summer program which in 1954 showed an increase of approximately 28 per cent over 1953 enrollment.

The 785,010 center will include on its first floor a student lounge, rooms for student organizations, and the Office of Student Personnel Services' suite, on its second floor a cafeteria and the "Bulldog Room", and on its third floor a ballroom.

William T. Middlebrook, vice president for business administration, said following the awarding that the regents are asking construction begun as early as possible to assure maximum progress before winter.

Also awarded were contracts for construction of eight resident dormitories. The completion date set for this is August 15, 1955.

Bjornson Asks for Political Unity

Presenting the two senatorial candidates at convocation in two weeks, the Democratic-Republican Forum is making an attempt to inform the UMD student body and to let them meet the candidates for election.

The serious labor problem on Minnesota's Iron Range was the main body of a talk given Tuesday morning by Val Bjornson, state treasurer and Republican candidate for United States Senator.

Bjornson, giving what was termed a "non-political" speech, stressed the fact that though the labor problem seems serious now, the construction and tacite industries should brighten the employment picture by spring. He stated that he felt he knew much of Minnesota because of his experience as state treasurer.

In the "non-political convocation," the state treasurer asked how a country could carry out its policies if it changed its legislature (now Republican) midterm. He referred to Senator Estes Kefauver's advice to Pres. Eisenhower to resign if this should happen. Bjornson termed such disunity would be a crime.

Also appearing at the convocation was P. Kenneth Peterson candidate on the GOP ticket for the post of lieutenant governor.

Pete Thorsteinson, president of the Democratic-Republican Forum which sponsored Bjornson's appearance here, announced that the incumbent Democratic Sen. Hubert Humphrey would speak next Friday, Oct. 15.

Student Commission Votes for New Home

STUDENT COMMISSION

A new office headquarters and workroom for UMD's Student Commission will soon be set up as a result of action taken at the regular meeting of the commission held last Tuesday. The office will locate in room 307, Washburn, the former Student Council office. The old office has not been used for this purpose in recent years.

"The necessity of establishing a central Commission headquarters has been repeatedly brought to my attention," stated Grant Merritt, Commission president.

He explained that the room will serve for storage space for commission supplies, as well as for committee meetings and office space. Marilyn Moog, recording secretary, presented the motion which was unanimously adopted by the group.

In order to permit as prompt action as possible on special problems, such as parking, the student governing body also moved to hold a special meeting next Monday, to act on appointing new commissioners to the three vacancies now existing.

Candidates for these vacancies are being considered by a special committee headed by Tom Johnson.

At the Tuesday meeting, Mary Nichols, Secretary of Finance, presented the commission budget for the fall quarter, and other commissioner reports were given. The commission also discussed the possibility of allotting special incidental funds for individual expenses, and will act on this plan after tentative budgets have been drawn up by each commissioner.

Hospital Needs Blood Donors

Attention all students interested in earning $16! Mrs. Elizabeth Haley, Room 109, Washburn, announces that local hospitals are offering that sum to blood donors.

Anyone interested in donating a pint of blood to add to their income should first have their blood typed at a local hospital. After typing is completed, report it to Mrs. Haley. Minimum age for donors is 18.

America. Our production of the play will escape criticism."

Slated for the Theatre's Winter production, is "Kiss Me Kate," with music by Cole Porter and book by Sam and Bella Spewak. This will be given in early February, in conjunction with the department of music. Kaufman and Connelly's comedy-fantasy "Beggar on Horseback" is scheduled for the Spring presentation, May 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Costumer for this year is Alyce Claire Wellberg, and scene technician is Russell Ely. The lighting technician has not yet been selected. "Anyone interested in the job should get in touch with me," urged Hayes.

Kasberg Wins Hopwood Award

Karl Kasberg, editor of the UMD Humanist, literary quarterly, in '53-'54, has received an Avery Hopwood award in poetry at the University of Michigan.

The award was for work submitted during the 1954 summer term at Michigan and for other verse appearing in the Humanist last year. An English major at UMD, Kasberg plans to enter college English teaching upon completion of his graduate studies at Michigan. Last spring he played the leading role of Bishop Thomas a-Becket in T. S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral."

The coveted Hopwood award was one of 12 made this year. Kasberg received the honor from Katherine Porter, and later appeared on a televised interview with Miss Porter at Ann Arbor. He is the son of Mrs. Kasberg, teacher in the Summit School at Proctor.

 self bet the wrong way this year? Maybe the administration will set up a relief fund for starving—because-of-Cleveland students.) At any rate, it is hoped that students won't think of convos as a place to exercise their lungs this year . . . there is a big hole on campus without the presence of Clarence Mattila. He was a brave, witty guy. We hope that the experiment goes on—who can doubt that it is a worthy effort after having had Clarence at UMD?

New Bulletin Shows UMD's Progress

Got about 56 years of your life that you don't know what to do with? The newly released general bulletin of the University of Minnesota. Duluth branch, for the years 1954-56 suggests a profitable way of spending them.

It would require just that long to take every one of the 880 courses listed in the bulletin—if you were to enroll for a normal load of 15 course credits per quarter during the regular school year.

By divisions, the course totals include 167 in science and mathematics, 153 in social studies, 275 in education and psychology, 273 in humanities and 12 in air science.

"Of course," notes Dr. Raymond W. Darland, UMD provost, "we don't expect anyone to take all 880 courses. Why, if a freshman began that kind of a program this fall, by 2010, when he would be 74 years of age, finding housing for that many degrees would be quite a problem in itself."

He added, however, that the 56-year hypothetical student serves to emphasize how the Duluth branch is growing in academic status and opportunity.

Of the 889 courses, 95 are graduate credits—an impressive figure in view of the fact that graduate work in the UMD campus was begun only a few years ago. Last fall the M.A. degree with majors in curriculum and instruction or in elementary education was authorized. Many graduate offerings have been added during the past year.

Eight months in production, the 148-page bulletin was edited by Dr. Thomas W. Chamberlin, academic dean, and printed by the University print shop on the Main campus.

Hundreds of copies of the new bulletin have been sent to students enrolling at UMD for this year including many freshmen from Duluth and adjoining communities, to help them in working out their college study program.

The new bulletin is being sent to libraries, colleges and universities throughout the country and in some foreign cities. Area teachers, many of whom are doing graduate and undergraduate work at UMD, also are receiving the bulletin.

is slated for the Physical Education building after the game. Music will be provided by Mickey Levine and his orchestra. Peter Thorsteinson is chairman of the dance.

Homecoming activities will come to an end Sunday afternoon with the second annual Beta Phi • Kappa vs. Gamma Theta Phi touch football struggle to be played on the practice field on the upper campus.

Chairmen of the various committees not previously mentioned include: square dance, Greta Linder; half-time, Tom Johnson and Jerry Cross; decorations, Ralph Miller; and publicity, Tom Sjogren.

Convo to Introduce Queens First Convocation

Will Feature Canoeing Expert

One of the more appealing features of the 1954 Homecoming event will be the Queen convocation slated for 11:00 p. m. in Main Auditorium on Thursday, Oct. 21.

Leo LaFrance and Jack Dungan, co-chairmen of the event, have requested all organizations to support candidates for Homecoming Queen. All UMD girls are eligible except members of the freshman class. Any group may sponsor a candidate by contacting either of the co-chairmen.

The convo itself is under the direction of Dennis LaRoque and Don Sundquist who will also be co-emcees. In addition, comedy interim between presentations of each candidate is being planned.

LaFrance and Dungan also stressed the fact that all queen candidates must have photographs taken by Tuesday, Oct. 12, so that they may appear in the STATESMAN. Larry Moran of Moran Studios is the official photographer for the event.

In the first convo program of the year, outdoor and canoeing expert, Ben Ferrier will combine a demonstration and showing of colored movies on the theme of "Exploring the Canadian Wilderness."

BEN FERRIER

Next Thursday, Oct. 14, at 11 a. m. in Main auditorium Ferrier will show pictures of running the foaming rapids of the far north, catching speckled trout weighing seven and eight pounds traveling among schools of white whales.

Much of Ferrier's life was spent as a professional guide, and he estimates that he has covered more than forty thousand miles by canoe. At present he makes his home in the Quetico-Superior Forest Wilderness area in Northern Minnesota.

tion on the campus which should be supplanted. It is hoped that the increased finances available will motivate our own music department and other departments to produce entertaining shows.

The newly-elected convo commissioner, Jim Maher, feels very strongly that there is a great need for student convocations and specialized programs, such as Sunday afternoon science programs which would be mainly directed towards out-of-town students.

The seven, well-spaced programs already scheduled for this year include one of the world's foremost wilderness adventurers, a famous English poet and his singing wife, two authorities on world affairs, a noted American author and the former Chief Counter-Intelligence officer for the Office of Strategic Services in the Middle East.

Frosh Seek More Cabinet Members

Freshman groups, during the recent orientation week, each chose a chairman and secretary to represent them on the freshman cabinet. Approximately 20 volunteer members are needed to supplement the original 36 members.

At an election convo held yesterday, candidates for class officers were introduced. Actual voting began at noon and is continuing through noon today, under the direction of Jack Hautaluoma, election commissioner. Robert Falk, coordinator of student activities, emphasized that the success of the freshman class will depend on the participation and interest of class members in the cabinet. Forms for those wishing to volunteer are available in the OSPS.

The first freshman sponsored event of the school year will be the Homecoming bonfire to be held at Chester Bowl, Oct. 22. Later responsibilities will include the high school visitation program and participation in the '55 orientation program.

Meet the Coaches

HEAD COACH LLOYD PETERSON
Beginning his third decade as college coach is Lloyd Peterson who began in 1931 when UMD was Duluth Teachers College. "Pete" earned three varsity letters at fullback for the 1920 Golden Gophers. Upon graduation he took over as coach of Owatonna High School during 1925-26. From 1926-31 he was athletic director and coach at University High School in Minneapolis. During his long term here as head coach Peterson's squads have won 64, and lost 45 and tied 8. He captured the State Teachers College Conference championship in 1934 and 1937 and co-championship in 1934 and 1937 and co-championship in four other seasons. The closest his UMD squad has come to a MIAC championship was the 1951 Cinderella squad which finished 2nd. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have five children. Their son Jim is a Bulldog backfield stalwart. Jeanne and Mary have been Homecoming queens and Nancy and Sigrid attend East High School.

LINE COACH JOE GERLACH
Joe, a graduate of Wisconsin has been at UMD since 1947. In this time he has assisted Coach Peterson at football, and filled in as basketball coach in 1951-52 and 1952-53. In addition Joe handles the track squad. Gerlach graduated from Wisconsin in 1937 with five letters, four in baseball and one in football. In 1939 he held the post of Athletic Director at the University of Alaska. He remained until 1942 when he assumed the same capacity at Dickinson, North Dakota. In 1945-46 he was instructor of physical education at the University of Illinois. The following year he was at the York High School in Elmhurst, Illinois. In 1947 Joe came to UMD.

BACKFIELD COACH NORM OLSON
A familiar figure to local sports fans is Norman H. Olson, former basketball coach at Superior Central and new UMD cage mentor. Norm has added football to his schedule and is assisting in molding the Bulldogs backfield. Olson, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin where he received both the B.S. and M.S. degrees in physical education, is a native of Arena, Wisconsin. He is married and has two daughters, Karen 8 and Camilla 5.

LINE ASSISTANT EARL DEROCHE
Voted the outstanding line man of the year by his teammates last season, Earl, the Brainerd Junior College transfer of two years ago, has returned as assistant line coach for our Bulldogs. The stocky 193 pounder came to UMD with Northern Junior all-loop honors for 1951 and continued to add to his already sparkling reputation. Earl is attending UMD while completing work on his B.S. degree which he will complete this fall.

Consolidated Ticket Booth Offers Convenience, Efficiency

Completed just before the opening of school, the UMD central ticket booth has just opened for business with the arrival of the home UMD football schedule. The ticket booth, which is found on the first floor hall across the corridor from the Humanities division office will have tickets for all UMD activities, including athletic contests, dramatic presentations and other UMD functions. Establishment of the ticket office will also mean that students will be able to use the office to secure reserve seats for UMD home hockey games in the winter, rather than being able to sit in one general student area, as was the case in previous years. Building of the ticket booth falls in line with a policy of renovation of the first floor hall which found the UMD news service being established in its present location last winter.

Placement Office Revision Made

Several changes have recently been made in the Office of Student Personnel Services announced Robert Falk, assistant director. A new division concerning part-time employment for students is directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Haley from her office in Washburn 109. Edwin B. Wenzel has returned to UMD following a year of graduate work at Columbia University. He has taken over Richard Carlson's duties as placement co-ordinator and will maintain a year-around placement service for graduates from his office in 211, Main.

Religion in Life Week Plans Set

To help meet that spiritual problem common to college students, the Religious Council is planning a Religion in Life week to be held during the week of Nov. 15 to 19. Jerry DeShaw, Council chairman, announced that committees have been organized and the main speaker has been contacted. Representatives from each religious club on campus make up the council which has named the following people to head up the first annual Religion in Life week. Dennis Ojakangas, general chairman; Jim Sykes, publicity; Ruth Sramek, recording; Charles Hill, speakers; Beverly Rowe, special events; Virginia Buus, convocations; Tom Feirek, finance.

Emporia Hornets Hit By Hurricane Bulldogs

Bulldog Tales

by Ralph Romano

In each issue this column will salute a UMD sports figure for outstanding work the previous week.

THE STATESMAN SALUTES:

Captain Dave Erholtz, UMD end for his blocking, pass receiving recovery of two fumbles and steady play against Emporia last Saturday. Keep up the good work Dave.

The Bulldogs invade Macalester Friday evening for a game that should indicate just how far our football squad will go. Although the Macs were beaten 41-0 by the powerhouse from St. Johns the score did not truly indicate the play.

Last season the Macs beat UMD 13-9 to continue their record as a spoiler against UMD's athletic squads.

Wally Aunan has grabbed the yards rushing leadership for the Bulldogs squad. Fullback Aunan has cracked off 69 yards in fourteen tries. Joe Hussey junior halfback trails with 52 yards.

Anyone interested in participating in Cross Country contact Bob Hughes or drop a note in P. O. Box 308 or contact Dr. Lew Rickert at the Physical Education Building.

A squad is being formed this year in anticipation of entering competition next year.

Forbert Stars As UMD End

By DON ROMANO

When football practice began this fall one of the major problems facing Coach Peterson was to fill the position vacated by Owen Beatty who transferred to Michigan Tech. Fans at the Emporia game Saturday knew we had found him in the person of Richard Forbert, a 6 ft. 190 lb. end whose aggressive play has gained him the starting end position in his freshman year.

Dick is a graduate of Duluth Central high school class of 1953 where he received his football letter in his junior year and as a senior was elected an all-city end. He spent last year working at Western Electric before deciding to enter college. Dick plays opposite captain Dave Erholtz to give UMD one of the outstanding pairs of ends in the conference.

Dick Forbert is a business major who plans on taking a crack at college basketball as soon as the grid season ends. He also played basketball at Central.

Comparing college and high school football Dick sums it up in one word—"rougher". What type does he like best? College of course.

Dick says you can't help but play inspired football when you have such a terrific bunch of guys standing beside you.

Where does he think UMD will finish this season. "In first place," says Dick.

WAA Activities

By Barb Laibl

W.A.A. is welcoming in the fall with a good old tournament of volleyball. All gals interested, talented or not, are urged to sign up for this main fall quarter, competitive sport. Alternates during this quarter will be soccer and field hockey (when the weather permits,) and arranged bowling parties.

All's ya gotta do is dig up a pencil and sign your name on the bulletin board in the women's gym. W.A.A. hours are 3:30 to 5:30 on either Mondays or Thursdays—depending when your team competes—or both days if you feel extra ambitious. Freshmen women are especially urged to get 'in the swing' now for a full 4 years of a well-coordinated program.

Today and tomorrow, W.A.A. will send two representatives to the M.A.F.C.W. (Minnesota Athletic Federation of College Women) at Bemidji State Teachers College to discuss with other W.A.A. delegates the programs and ideas of their campuses—all to bring a better W.A.A. to you. Bea Brune and Kay Dietl will drive up with Miss Johnson and come back loaded with news ideas, etc.

Come on out NOW. No regrets guaranteed!

UMD Scores 20-7 Victory In Initial Tilt

Joe Hussey, UMD's junior halfback from Grand Marais, strolled outside the enemy secondary for 31 yards and paydirt last Saturday night in Public Schools Stadium, to set the stage for the Bulldogs 20-7 conquest of the visiting Emporia State Hornets of Emporia, Kansas.

UMD struck fast at the outset of both the first and third quarters to assume control. After Frank Gritton of Emporia had punted out for the second time, it took the Bulldogs but two plays to score from 39 yards out.

Lefty Warner jumped a bullet-like flat pass to Erholtz, who spun away from one tackler for eight yards to the 31. Then, with approximately six minutes having elapsed in the initial quarter, Hussey took a handoff from Warner, cut diagonally outside his own left tackle and outdistanced all pursuers to score standing up. Aunan converted his first of two successful extra point attempts.

As soon as the Bulldogs gained possession in the second half, they needed but four plays to register TD number two. This time the scoring chance came as a result of Passmore's fumble, recovered by Erholtz on the 16 yard line of Emporia. Hussey and Peterson combined for six yards before Warner lost four. On fourth down, Peterson pitched a high, wobbly spiral towards the goal line, where Warner leaped up between two defenders, plucked the pass away and spun across into the end zone. Aunan proceeded to boot a perfect placement, making it 14-0.

Emporia's weak right side started the Bulldogs on the road to their third counter when Aunan popped over exactly the same spot Hussey exploded for his touchdown gallop, and sped 30 yards to the enemy 31. On second down, after Aunan had plunged for six more, Peterson heaved a low liner down to the one yard line, which Erholtz caught while falling on the turf. On that spectacular effort, Erholtz was injured and later retired in favor of Al Arnold.

Another bobble; this time by Dick Nelson, touched off Emporia's lone tally. Starting on the UMD 45, the Hornets moved the distance in ten plays, sparked by the running of qb., Dan Horuichi. Horuichi scored on a keeper from the one after setting it up by tossing eight yards to his end, Erwin Peterson. The conversion was perfect.

Before an estimated total attendance of 1,627, the Bulldogs sported a much improved defense and compiled 234 yards rushing and passing. Wally Aunan, fullback from Two Harbors, led the ground attack with 49 yards in six attempts.
